In this workshop participants will be introduced to indigenous (shamanic) energy medicine concepts and methods of intervention that Dr. Phil Accaria incorporates into his psychotherapy and hypnosis practice. Anneke Hogeland has extensive experience using his concepts and methods in her practice.

This is an experiential workshop designed for those clinicians, practitioners, or interested parties, who are or would like to work clinically on the "energetic" levels of diagnosis and intervention. Participants will be introduced to the clinician's use of altered states of awareness for the purpose of seeing that which is not commonly seen, feeling that which is not commonly felt, and hearing that which is not commonly heard. These ways are derived from ancient indigenous energy medicine practices and current perspectives of quantum physics.

Participants will also be introduced to the ideomotor signaling procedures of muscle testing and dowsing.
